Personal Bio:

Genevieve was born and raised in Provo, Utah and graduated from BYU's J. Reuben Clark Law School in 2006. She was an associate editor of the ELJ (Education Law Journal) and was a summer research fellow for the International Center for Law and Religion Studies in Accra, Ghana. In addition, Genevieve attended summer school session in Hague, Netherlands on International Criminal Law. She was also a research assistant to Professor Lynn Wardle and edited his casebook on family law.

Favorite hobbies include reading, crochet, sewing, quilting, embroidery and singing. She loves spending time with her 35 nieces and nephews. Genevieve enjoys serving her community as a member of the United Way Utah County Women's Leadership Committee as well as visiting Sunset View and Provost Elementary School monthly to deliver books to first through third graders.

Business Bio:

Genevieve is an attorney at law with Inter Vivos, PLLC with a specialty in Special Needs. She was raised with a brother with special needs and for the past 8 years has volunteered as a one-to-one aid at school for her nephew who has autism. Her passion is to help people who cannot help themselves by tearing down brick walls that prevent those with special needs from receiving the services they need. She loves estate planning and special education advocacy.
