Personal Bio:

Charlane Brown is an attorney and Licensed Real Estate Broker. She is a solo practitioner specializing in real estate and small business formation matters. Charlane previously practiced asset forfeiture litigation, employment discrimination and municipal law in a major government agency. Charlane began to develop a passion for legacy planning after recognizing that many people do not have an estate plan or written directives and after dealing with the loss of both of her parents. Charlane wishes to fill this void and shift the paradigm to institutionalize legacy planning for families, individuals, businesses and other organizations.

A twenty-six year veteran of the NYPD, Charlane held numerous ranks including Detective, Captain, and ultimately Deputy Inspector. During her tenure with the NYPD Charlane became one of the first African American female captains.

Business Bio:

Charlane Brown holds a JD from New York Law School and received her BA Summa Cum Laude from John Jay College. Charlane is a member of a number of professional organizations. Dedicated to service to her community, Charlane is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Incorporated, The Links Incorporated, and Jack and Jill of America Incorporated, serves on the Alumni Board of her Alma Mater, and is a member of a number of professional associations. Charlane also lectures at Berkeley College. In 2018, she became a board member of Ladies of Third Thursday, a business networking group designed to assist women entrepreneurs and small businesses. Born and raised in NY, Charlane is married and is the proud step-mom of two boys.
