Brett Breeden was born in California and spent part of his childhood in Utah, but he got to Texas as soon as he could. After graduating with his undergraduate degree from Brigham Young University, he attended Dedman School of Law at Southern Methodist University and graduated in 2007.

Brett and his wife have three young children. When he is not busy running the kids from basketball practice to ballet lessons to swim team to hockey practice, Brett loves playing board games, reading books, and camping with his family.

Business Bio:

Brett's professional experience includes oil and gas title, finance and transactions, criminal defense, estate planning, business entity formation, and commercial leasing. Brett is not happy unless his client is happy. He will take the time, in every situation, to make sure that his clients leave with their needs met and their matter resolved to their satisfaction. He strives to find the most advantageous solution for each client, and he is not afraid to figure out something new if it is in his client's best interest.
